AGENDA

The topic of ESG has not only been a central issue with regard to competitiveness and future viability since 2022 but has also become a central component of corporate strategies. In crisis situations, however, the topic of ESG is assigned a subordinate role, as it is essentially a survival strategy for the respective company.

A survey conducted in W&P's banking network in January 2023 showed that ESG is an important topic that should not be underestimated, even in times of crisis. During the webinar, we will present the results of the survey and talk to experts about the topic of ESG rating, ESG measures and their scope in the context of restructuring.
